Grading and Clearing Permit review and inspection fees are calculated using both base fees and hourly fees. The total cost of a permit will vary depending upon the complexity of the project and the number of ancillary reviews that are required to complete the application review (e.g., drainage, SEPA, or critical area review).

Base review and inspection fees are estimated using target hours. Target hours are intended to provide staff and the applicant a very general estimate of the time to complete certain standard reviews. Target hours for inspection functions represent minimum inspection levels. If target hours are exceeded, additional reviews and inspections will be billed at the department's current hourly rate ($144.90 as of January 1, 2004). Certain reviews, such as drainage and SEPA review, are billed at the current hourly rate for each hour of review time.

DDES collects a deposit at the time of application submittal up to 50% of the anticipated hourly charges for the project. Direct hourly charges in excess of deposit amounts, or charges in excess of base fees, will be billed to you monthly. Finance charges will accrue if invoices are not paid in a timely manner.

In addition to the standard review and inspection fees applicable to all permit applications, certain other fees and base fee adjustments may be applicable to clearing and grading projects. These include, but are not limited to:

- Counter Service Fees – Intake fees will be assessed for all permit applications except miscellaneous clearing permits, which are assessed hourly charges. Issuance fees will be assessed for all clearing and grading applications, except short form permits.
- Investigation fees – Investigation fees are assessed any time work proceeds prior to issuance of a permit. Investigation fees are equal to the amount of the base review fee.
- Critical Areas – In addition to standard critical area review fees, base fees can be increased by 50% if the proposed project includes work that may affect critical areas.

Other review fees may be assessed during the course of project review if the project or scope of the project is particularly complex. DDES makes every effort to notify customers when these additional reviews are required. In some cases, projects can be modified to avoid additional reviews.

I have read the foregoing and understand that the estimated fees contained on this worksheet are only an estimate and the actual cost of this permit will depend upon the review services required and the complexity of the proposed project. I accept financial responsibility for all fees associated with this permit or approval.
